Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

The date of initial service of TVA power in Murray was June 11, 1942.

William Bole has been Manager of Manufacturing Services and Foundry Superintendent at Tappan here in Murray since 1963.

On the back-unloading area of National Stores, which faces the alley next to us, the name "Chie" is embossed in the concrete in metal. The name is fashioned in thin metal and was placed down in the concrete so that the top of the metal pieces are flush with the top of the concrete.

Everybody knew Chie. He was at National Stores for years then later purchased the station at the corner of Sixth and Main Streets.

Mrs. Callista B. Clanton brings in the following poem:
"Thank God for dirty dishes,
They have a tale to tell;
While other folks go hungry,
We're eating very well.
With Home and Health and Happiness
We shouldn't want to fuss,
For by this stack of evidence,
God's very good to us."

Too true, too true.

"Mediocrity - you can't promote it, you can't fire it and you can't win with it," George Dillwell, Marketing Vice-President of Graphic Systems Division of Radio Corporation of America.

Alexander Hamilton was Secretary of the Treasury and under him the first Bank of the United States was flourished. When he died he left a debt of $50,000 a wife and seven children. Hamilton was killed in a duel with Aaron Burr at Weehawken, New Jersey in 1804. This is the same location where Hamilton's oldest son died three years earlier in a duel. Hamilton's son was killed by the same dueling pistols which took his own life.

Beauty is in the eye of the beholder. So is sin. So is dirt. So is right.

A Hippie has been described as a person who wears his hair like Thurston, sets like Jane, smells like Cheech, and advocates making love rather than war, but cannot do either.

In this kind of weather one would hardly think that anything would ever grow again. It is difficult to visualize a tender green plant pushing its way skyward and gradually unfolding its leaves to the warm sun.

But the time will come in due season. At least it always has.

The following philosophy comes from William, Peffer and is good thinking in this day and time when the idea of many seems to be how much work they can get out of doing, rather than the reverse.

"Charles Dickens was expressing a sincere conviction born of experience when he said: 'My imagination would never have served me as it has but for the habit of commonplace, humble, patient, gently, softly, dragging attention.' And the same Newton had in mind his own life of hard discipline when he said: 'Genius is patience.'"

"We will never be able to reconstruct the world in such a way (Continued On Page Six)

Remove Snow And Ice Postmaster Urges

Postmaster Lester Nanny said all rural patrons are expected to remove the snow and ice from the approaches to their mail boxes to expedite delivery of their mail each day. The roads have been slick and many of the mailboxes are hard for the mailman to reach to deliver the mail.

Recently Department of the Army announced the promotion of Anthony Johnson to the grade of Major. Major Johnson's new oak leaves were pinned on by his wife and Colonel EH W. Birdsong, Jr., Professor of Military Science at Murray State University. Before joining the Military Science staff at MSU Major Johnson served in Vietnam. He and his wife live with their two daughters at 1719 Magnolia Drive in Murray.

Red-Cross Chapter Honors Rayburn With Resolution

By LOUIS CASSELL

WASHINGTON, D.C. — America's 46 million Red Cross chapters are being exhorted, in an extraordinary appeal by their leaders, to display more love, loyalty and obedience toward their rapidly changing chapter.

The bishops made their plea in a 28,000-word pastoral letter in which they urged deep concern about a spirit of criticism, impudence with authority and reluctance to obey that has developed in the church since the Vatican Council.

They noted in the letter, issued Wednesday night, that in the past five years the church has undergone some of the most rapid and profound changes in its history.

Urging patience, "Such a period is no time to lose patience, above all with the church, or to attempt to decide, on the strength of one's own insights alone, what things are to be believed or what values are to be affirmed for salvation," they said.

"We ask all, scholars and simple faithful alike, for honest adherence to the teachings of the Vatican Council . . . we ask that the same love and loyalty shown toward the church which called the council be shown to the church which must now interpret the council, implement its reforms and give direction to the spirit of renewal which is its heritage."

The lengthy document was approved by the bishops at a closed meeting in Washington last month but was not made public until now. It was official recognition of the "crisis of obedience" in the church, a crisis which affects liberals who want the reforms to move further and faster as well as conservatives who feel that there is too much work they can get out of doing, rather than the reverse.

Puppy's Head Grafted To Another Dog

MOSCOW, U.S.S.R. — A Russian scientist has transplanted the head and forepaws of a puppy to a mongrel dog, making a twin-headed animal, the news agency Tass said today.

The scientist, pathophysiology Vladimir Denisukov, told Tass the possibility of a head living without any connection to internal organs opened the prospect of completely replacing hopelessly stricken organs with healthy ones.

Denisukov performed the transplant operation from a two-month-old puppy to a four-year-old mongrel in Kiev in the Ukraine, Tass said.

The operation took about four hours, using an artificial respiration apparatus and vessel-freezing instruments. Deep freezing and artificial blood circulation were not used, Tass said.

Inspection Of Motor Vehicles Comes Under Attack In Frankfort

Rep. Arthur L. Schmidt (R., Odd Springs), Monday night, entered a bill in the Kentucky House of Representatives to give individual counties power to regulate inspection of motor vehicles.

The inspections would be made to conform to standards set by the commissioner of public safety.

The annual inspection law, which just went into effect on Jan. 1, is currently under control of the State Motor Vehicle Division in Frankfort.

The bill already has been the target of a repeal, filed in the House last week.

Repeal of this law could cost the state several million dollars since the Federal Highway Safety Act of 1966 provides penalties of up to 10 per cent of all federal road aid for states which do not comply with new safety standards.

Thus far three bills have been introduced to eliminate this law or change it.

The law now provides that every vehicle in the state must be inspected at least once a year at a state-certified station. Vehicles found to be unsafe must be repaired within five days or taken off the road. The inspection will cost a maximum of $250.

East-West Battle On DST Begun In General Assembly

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Several bills to exempt Kentucky from a federal daylight saving time law were introduced in the state Senate Tuesday night providing the battleground for an emotional east-west confrontation at the outset of the General Assembly.

Sen. Walter Dee Huddleston (D., Elizabethtown) dropped his bill in the hopper at Tuesday night's 6 o'clock session. The House of Representatives also convened at 8 p.m.

Huddleston's measure would keep Kentucky on standard time throughout the year, with no exceptions during the summer.

Currently Kentucky is on standard time, but state law allows counties and municipalities to choose daylight time during the summer months.

The 1966 Federal Uniform Time Act ordered all states to go on daylight time during the summer unless specifically exempted by the respective state legislatures.

The act went into effect in 1967, but Kentucky, after considerable pleading by former Gov. Edward T. Breathitt, was granted a one-year stay because its state legislature did not meet in 1967.

Breathitt refused to call a special session of the Legislature, despite continued pleading by then Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield, the National Farmers Organization, outdoor drive-in theaters and several rural GOP legislators.

As a result of the one-year stay last summer Kentucky had a hopefulness of different times.

Four different time zones existed: Eastern standard, eastern daylight, central standard, and central daylight.

This coming summer, beginning the last Sunday in April, only two times will prevail. It will be either eastern and central standard or eastern and central daylight.

No option to local communities or counties will be available.

Huddleston, majority caucus chairman in the Senate, said that western Kentuckians in the central time zone probably would oppose his bill.

Some border counties also could be expected to oppose standard time, since neighboring states will be on daylight saving time.

An example of this is in the northern Kentucky area. A large number of northern Kentuckians work in Cincinnati which, like the rest of Ohio, is on daylight time.

Last summer those northern Kentucky counties voted to go on DST, solving the problem temporarily. But should the Legislature exempt the state from daylight time this year, the Greater Cincinnati area would be operating with different clocks.

Among the groups supporting daylight time in Kentucky are the nationally affiliated radio and television stations. Program schedules are generally based on New York or Chicago time, and both are on DST during the summer.

Huddleston admits that standard time would be inconvenient to some Kentuckians, but said a greater number would be aided by it.

"Daylight time would just about put drive-in theaters in the eastern time zone out of business," he said, explaining the theaters would be forced to wait for school buses in darkness during some periods of the spring and fall.

Huddleston said he plans to ask for full committee hearings on the bill before it comes up for a vote.

Rep. Shelby McCallum and Rep. Freddie Morgan of Paducah will ask the federal government to move the Eastern Time Zone back where it used to be. It was moved several years ago to a line extending from Ashland to Knoxville, Tennessee to Harlan County, about 100 miles east of Princeton. If the line is moved back, much opposition to DST in Kentucky will be removed, they said.

Colonel Lance Booth Retires From Army After 25 Years

Colonel Lance E. Booth, former Professor of Military Science at MSU, retired from the Army on December 31 after more than twenty-five years of active service. Upon his retirement he was awarded the Legion of Merit, the second highest award for meritorious service.

Colonel Booth had been Professor of Military Science at Murray State from August, 1963 to his retirement last month. During his tenure his accomplishments were many and will be of lasting credit to himself and Murray State University, a university spokesman said.

In part the citation for Colonel Booth's Legion of Merit read: "Demonstrating professional competence, sound judgement, unusual skill and resourceful direction Colonel Booth revitalized the ROTC program at the university. His untiring efforts resulted in the cadet corps receiving the top rating at the largest ROTC Summer Camp in 1966 while in competition with 70 other colleges and universities. Noteworthy among his accomplishments were the establishment of a counterintelligence unit, a flight training program, and

National Collegiate Athletic Convention Ends Peaceful Today; Little Success Seen

By STEVE SMILANICH

UPI Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association wound up a comparatively peaceful convention today but the organization did little to improve relations in its feud with the Amateur Athletic Union.

The NCAA, governing body for some 600 colleges and universities involved in collegiate sports, closed its 62nd annual meeting by approving interpretations of recently approved legislation.

The heaviest convention action took place Wednesday — when the group, displaying an unusual spirit of harmony, voted to modify the controversial 1.6 academic ruling.

Continue Feud

On a less peaceful note the NCAA Council issued a policy statement reacting to enforcement of its by-law spelling out conditions for participation in non-collegiate track and field and gymnastic events. The action will not become effective until No. 1 to avoid a conflict before the Olympic Games.

Student Requirements

The 1.6 C-minus rule was established two years ago. It provided that no student may participate in NCAA sanctioned sports unless his academic standard is 1.6 or better when he enters college and that he continues normal progress toward graduation.

The new amendment enables

The action lifts the moratorium in the feud with the AAU which had been imposed pending completion of a federal Sports Arbitration Board hearing report.

The group also expressed satisfaction with its leadership by re-electing the president and secretary-treasurer.

Marcus L. Plant, a professor law at the University of Michigan, was re-elected president and Ernest B. McCoy, dean and athletic director at Pennsylvania State University, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Delegates also approved a measure permitting freshmen to compete on the varsity level in all sports except basketball and football.

Kentucky "Baron's Bombers" Put 'Cats On Top In SEC

By DAVID M. MOFFITT

UPI Sports Writer

ATLANTA (UPI) — The "Fabulous Five" of the "Baron's Bombers" are all gone, but that doesn't bother the Kentucky Wildcats; now they've got "Baron's Bombers" blasting them.

Leading to their traditional perch atop the Southeastern Conference basketball standings.

"Baron" Adolph Rupp, now in his 38th season, is already established as the most successful basketball coach of all time.

"Bombers" are his current, sophomore-laden quint which has jumped off to a 9-1 start and is ranked No. 4 in the nation.

The "Fabulous Five" was Rupp's 1949-50 group that included Alex Groves, Wah Wah Jones and Ralph Beard and won back-to-back national championships. The "Fiddlers Five" was his unheralded group that opened the season with a 19-0 record.

SEC and, then surprised the nation by winning the 1956 crown. "Rupp's Runts," with no starter taller than 6-foot-5, made it to the finals of the NCAA playoffs two years ago.

No one is predicting a national title for Kentucky this year, not with UCLA around, but you've got to pair off the Wildcats with fifth-ranked, defensive-minded Tennessee as favorites for the SEC honors.

Kentucky finished well back last season with a 13-13 record — worst in Rupp's long tenure. But the addition of three sophomores — 6-4 Mike Casey, 6-3 Dan Hise and 6-4 Mike Pratt — got the Wildcats back to their winning ways in a hurry.

Only loss by the Wildcats this season was at third-ranked North Carolina in mid-December. They got after their 10th victory of the season Saturday afternoon in a regionally televised game at the University of Florida.

There are two games in the Southeast tonight, Louisiana State, led by sophomore sensation Pete Maravich and his nation-leading 44.4 points average, will be at Tulane and Mississippi State will be host to Little Delta State.

Friday night, Miami, which was at Tampa Wednesday night will be at Florida State in a battle of independents.

Saturday, in addition to Kentucky at Florida, Tennessee will be host to Georgia, six-ranked Vanderbilt will be host to Mississippi, Alabama will be host to Birmingham Southern and Miami will be at Jacksonville University which upset Georgia Tech Monday.

Isel has his work cut out. He'll be going against Florida's 6-foot-11 Neal Walk who is second in SEC scoring with a 26.9 average and first in rebounding with a 19.3 average.

Four music workshops — at Lexington, Louisville, Henderson, and Paducah — will be held during the next two months by the Kentucky Federation of Homemakers. This announcement comes from Mrs. Marcy Stewart, UK Extension home economics program specialist who works with the Homemakers music program.

Each workshop is scheduled to start at 10 a.m. and end at 2 p.m. (local time). Dates and locations of the workshops are: Jan. 19 — Broadway Christian Church, Lexington; Feb. 2 — Deet Park Baptist Church, Louisville; Feb. 23 — Green River Valley Baptist Association Center, Henderson; and Mar. 1 — RECO Building, Henderson.

Preparation for the Kentucky Homemakers Chorus (program) at the annual Federation of Homemakers meeting this spring is the major purpose of these workshops, Mrs. Stewart says. The chorus will sing at the opening session of the annual meeting on March 26.

Miss Sara Holroyd, assistant professor of music at the University of Kentucky who is director of the Kentucky Homemakers Chorus, will conduct the workshops. The program at each workshop will include instruction on proper use of the voice and rehearsal — both for different vocal sections and for the entire group — of the music to be presented at the annual meeting.

"It is very important that anyone who plans to sing in the state chorus attend one of these workshops," Mrs. Stewart points out. You may attend whichever workshop is most convenient for you. Further information about the workshops is available at your county extension office.

Mrs. V. W. Parker Opens Home For The Bethany Class Meet

Mrs. V. W. Parker opened her lovely home — on South Sixteenth Street — for the monthly meeting of the Bethany Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church held on Monday, January 8, at seven o'clock in the evening. Mrs. Parker is the class teacher.

The inspiring and challenging program was presented by Mrs. O. C. Wells who said the past year and the new year should be reviewed. She used Paul as an example and read her scripture from Acts 22:14-16 and II Timothy 4:1. Mrs. Wells said each one should listen to the Lord, examine ourselves and take a new view for the coming year.

Each member quoted her favorite passage of scripture. Mrs. R. A. Slinker, president, presided and Mrs. Dean Outland led the opening prayer. Visitation to the sick was discussed.

Delicious refreshments were served to the eleven members and the teacher by the hostesses, Mrs.

How Much Should 4-Year-Old Know?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My 4-year-old son is really smart. He can read, write, and do simple math. He is a very bright child. I am wondering how much he should know at this age. DEAR CHRISTY: Only a man who can't resist nice round figures.

DEAR ABBY: My father, who is 82, wants to remarry. This will be his fourth wife since Mother died six years ago. His lady friend is 79. She seems pleasant and intelligent enough, although she, too, has had three divorces in the past 10 years.

Question: My brother and I are paying for Dad's support. He is still able to enjoy life and look after himself, but at times he acts a little strange. Should we give our blessings to this marriage? We want to be fair, but oh, dear!

DEAR DILEMMA: I would not encourage anyone who "acts a little strange" to marry. Especially at age 83, with a history of three divorces in six years.

Income Tax Questions & Answers

Q. — Can I forget about the 4th installment of my estimated tax if I file my 1967 return early?

A. — If you file your 1967 return and pay the balance due by January 31, there will be no penalty for not paying the 4th installment. If you do file early, don't forget your estimated tax declaration for 1968. The deadline for filing this declaration and paying the first installment of any tax due is April 15, 1968.

Q. — I got a Form 1040A in the mail. Does that mean I can't use the long Form 1040?

A. — You should file the form that best meets your tax situation and the requirements of the law. You received Form 1040A in the mail because that was the form you filed last year.

Q. — When can I expect to get my W-2 statement?

A. — The law requires employers to distribute W-2 withholding statements to employees by January 31.

When you receive your W-2, be sure to attach it to your return when you file. Failure to do so may result in over 300,000 returns last year.

Q. — When is the next payment due on my child's Social Security?

A. — The next quarterly report is due January 31.

Also due by January 31 is a statement to your mail covering the total amount of wages paid and Social Security taxes withheld during 1967.

This report may be made in any form suitable for the employer to keep. It should show the employee's name and address, the employee's name and address and Social Security number, the total amount of wages paid, and the total amount of employee Social Security tax deducted.

For your convenience, IRS has prepared Form SS-14, that can be used to provide this information to household employees. Copies may be obtained by sending a post card to your district director.

Q. — Can you take a deduction for clothing or furniture given to charity?

A. — If you made the donation to a qualified charitable organization, you may deduct its fair market value as a charitable contribution on your return. In order to do this you must itemize all your deductions rather than take one of the standard deductions.

Q. — The label on the tax return I received in the mail is wrong. What should I do?

A. — Draw a line through the incorrect part and put in the proper information. Return the corrected label with your return when you file so that your return will be properly identified and the needed correction can be made on your tax account.

Q. — Any scholarships considered income for tax purposes?

A. — Amounts received as scholarships may usually be excluded for tax purposes. There are certain limitations, however, which are described in Document No. 5075, "Scholarships and Fellowships."

Send a post card to your district director for a free copy.

Q. — When you support somebody over 65, can you take an additional exemption for him because of his age?

A. — No, there is just one $600 exemption for a dependent regardless of age.

Q. — I didn't cash one of my stock dividend checks until this year even though it was issued in 1967. What year should I report it?

A. — The law says income should be reported the year it is constructively received. In your case this means the dividend check should be reported as income for 1967.

Applying this same rule to interest on savings accounts, interest should be reported the year it is credited to an account even though it is not entered into the savings account passbook until the following year. For example, interest for the quarter ending December 31, 1967 should be reported as income on 1967 returns.
